

MONASH University
Library

Information research and learning skills

GROUP OF EIGHT

www.lib.monash.edu

Your information research and learning skills are key to your academic success at Monash.

Library services, resources and programs enable you to save time and be more effective in your learning and research. www.lib.monash.edu

Information research skills

Librarians can work with you on:

- how and where to start researching your topic
- effective use of databases and the internet
- finding, evaluating and incorporating information
- using the Library's collections
- citing and referencing to avoid plagiarism
- managing your research data
- using EndNote.

www.lib.monash.edu/information-research-skills

Learning skills

Learning skills advisers can work with you on:

- study methods and exam preparation
- collaboration and team work
- effective listening and note-taking
- problem-solving and critical thinking
- reading strategies
- essay, report and thesis writing
- writing for research projects
- academic English
- oral communication and presentation.

www.lib.monash.edu/learning-skills

Drop-in sessions, classes and tours

The Library offers:

- introductory tours, orientation sessions
- information research and learning skills classes and drop-in sessions.

www.lib.monash.edu/classes

Online resources

The resources available through the Library website include:

- Search, a tool to discover Library resources
- reading lists
- electronic books and journals
- Lectures online
- databases.

Access them all from the Library home page.

www.lib.monash.edu

Library guides are a starting point for identifying online and print resources in your subject area:

guides.lib.monash.edu

Language and Learning Online offers online tutorials, interactive exercises and other resources to help you improve your academic performance.

www.monash.edu.au/lis/lionline

EASE learning tools, on library student PCs, help you to improve academic listening and note-taking skills.

Help in using these resources is also available online at:

www.lib.monash.edu/help

More information

In person

At a service point at any branch

ask.monash

ask.monash.edu (check frequently asked questions)

Phone

03 9905 5054

www.facebook.com/monashuniversitylibrary

twitter.com/monashunilib