CSA Illumina contains:

- specialised databases covering humanities, environmental sciences, art, pharmacy, language and linguistics, education, library science, criminology, political science, psychology and sociology
- scholarly sources and research including references and summaries of journal articles, books and theses (dissertations).

Use CSA Illumina to find:

- full text journal articles on an extensive range of interdisciplinary topics
- links to locate full text articles from other library resources
- conference papers with an emphasis in life, environmental and aquatic sciences.

Tips:

- Click  for an overview of the content and coverage of individual databases.
- Select multiple databases from the list or search across broad subject categories such as social sciences, arts & humanities, natural sciences or technology
- If material is not immediately available in full text pdf format, click  . If a link to full text does not appear, try Search for this item in Monash University Library Catalogue. The article may be located in another database or via a different supplier.
- Descriptors listed alongside your search results can assist with providing additional results for your topic.
- Use * to expand a search term eg. Patent* retrieves patent, patents, patentable etc. Using * will also retrieve variant spelling eg. Behavi*r locates behaviour and behaviour.
- Register for alerts to receive updates of new material added to the database.
