Find it at: www.lib.monash.edu.au/databases/

Expanded Academic ASAP contains:

- citations to and many full-text articles on current events, general sciences, social sciences, and humanities. Journal coverage is from 1994 to the present, and there are backfiles (1980-1993) for some journals.

Use Expanded Academic ASAP to find:

- full text pdf versions of articles with images
- undergraduate-level research in scholarly journals
- movie and book reviews
- very up to date articles on topics
- general articles in magazines.

Tips:

- Limit to peer reviewed publications if you want only scholarly material.
- Try Subject guide search for overviews of relationships between areas of knowledge.
- Limiting results to documents with full text is not a good idea because Monash University Library has access to many journals available electronically through other publishers.
- Check for full text links directly to the full text via a different publisher or allows you to search the library catalogue for a print version.

Look for similar information in:

- Proquest, which covers similar interdisciplinary areas.
